ICISP aims to provide researchers and practitioners from academia and industry with a forum on the latest developments in image and signal processing, multimedia and computer graphics. The conference will also provide a unique opportunity for sharing experiences from different backgrounds with the common interest in advanced methods in the above-mentioned fields. The scientific program of ICISP 2012 will include the presentation of invited plenary talks, poster and regular sessions with contributed research papers.

Best papers will be published in a special issue of international journals (to be announced).

The proceedings will be published in the series Lecture Notes in Computer Science, Springer (pending approval).

Topics of interest for submission include, but are not limited to:

- Image and video processing: image filtering, restoration and enhancement, image segmentation, video segmentation and tracking, morphological processing, feature extraction and analysis, interpolation and super-resolution, motion detection and estimation, computer vision, pattern recognition, content-based image retrieval.
- Signal Processing: spectral analysis, time-frequency and time-scale representation, statistical signal processing, filtering, detection and estimation, nonlinear signal processing, radar, antennas, telecommunications systems, acoustics.
- Computer graphics: algorithms, visualization, animation, virtual reality.
- Applications: biomedical sciences, biometry, document image processing and analysis, time series analysis, traffic management, surveillance, digital library, e-Health, multimedia databases, pattern recognition, geo-information systems.
- Other topics: remote sensing, image analysis, virtual reality.

ICISP 2012 will also include on special session on Multi/Hyperspectral imaging organized by Alamin Mansouri (University of Burgundy, France).
